BOSLEY NURSERIES, INC. MENTOR, OHIO

SHALL WE GO TO THE MOON?

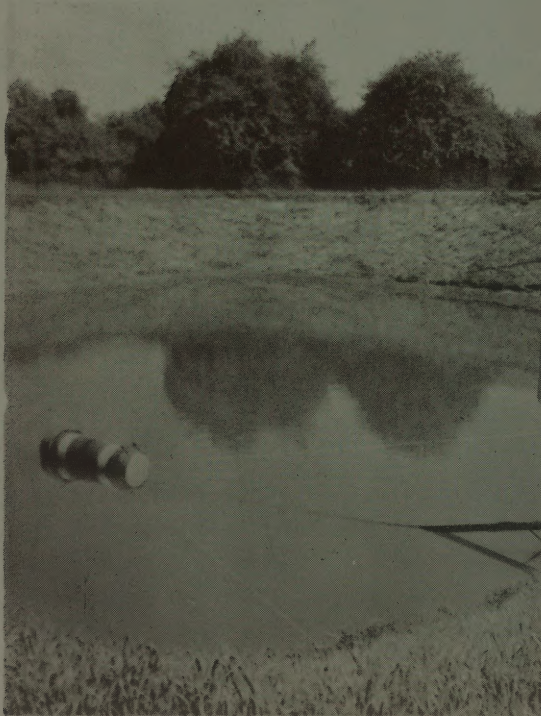

827077

All of the work here at Bosleys is done pretty close to the ground except the thinking. Sometimes our ideas get away from us but usually we have more ideas than we have money to carry them out. In the surrounding pictures and those throughout our catalogue you will find some of these ideas which have come into fruition.

Who ever heard of a water level pond? Or a pump floating in a lake or some of the other things on these pages but you see them here for the first time. WHY DO WE DO THESE THINGS? Actually you are the beneficiary as well as we. In many cases, we produce a plant in less time. You say, how does this help me? We are able to stay competitive in our prices and so can you. You supply your customer with a finer plant at a cheaper price and still make your legitimate profit.

All our canning soil is sterilized before being used so you collect an extra bonus on Bosley material. You don't have to water so much (our cans come to you pre-mulched).

Plants from Bosleys look better, sell better and are better, and you are the beneficiary. Build your reputation in your town by handling Bosley plants.

NEW WATER-TABLE PONDAZALEA PETAL BLIGHT

An insidious Azalea disease is creeping northward. Azalea Petal Blight could put both you and me out of the Azalea business if we let it get into our area. Azalea Petal Blight causes the flowers to look as though they had been singed with a blow torch and then had been filled with a mucous substance. The whole flower looks downright disgusting. We used to feel that this disease was only in the South and couldn't survive Northern winters, but the disease has been discovered in the growing areas of New Jersey and Long Island.

BOSLEY NURSERIES, INC.

By vigilance you can keep this disease out of your nursery. Several states at this time have quarantines against Azalea from infested areas. Ohio, as yet, doesn't have such a regulation but the subject is under consideration.

We supply our own Ohio grown Azaleas. This is in the best interests of the entire industry, but what is more important, it is in your best interest.

WE PROPAGATE HOLLY ASEXUALLY

Male and female they may be, but asexual reproduction preserves the built in hardiness feature, the good growth habit and maintains the sex. All of these things are important to you. Years of selection (a good bit of it by Bosleys) have led to Holly being an accredited plant which can be found in most nursery catalogues. Don't wipe out all the good work by purchasing indiscriminate Holly grown from seed. Bosley Hollies take the uncertainties out of Holly buying.

BOSLEY'S METHOD OF HANDLING POTTED ROSES

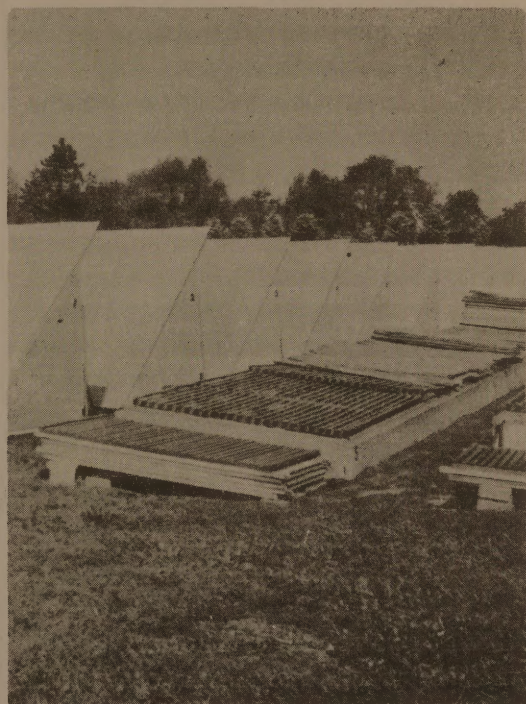

We have developed a unique method that insures results. A detailed sheet on the method is available to you, our customer.

These originally came from the now famous Dexter collection at Sandwich, Massachusetts on Cape Cod. Chas. O. Dexter had produced some wonderful hybrids and he allowed Mrs. Bosley and me (Paul Sr.) to make selections and graft plants from anything we wished. Through trial and error, we determined what was best and hardiest for our section of the country. We ultimately tagged the "Cream of the Crop" and brought original plants to Mentor. They have been growing here for many years and been re-selected and re-evaluated and then asexually propagated so it is our feeling that they now represent the finest of the hardy Rhododendrons growing today. Now that Mr. Dexter has long since died, the horticultural world is desperately trying to salvage his scattered collection.

We have never offered named varieties before, but at this time have a few of some of the numbers and herewith offer them. Essentially, they are clear pinks with no trace of lavender and have large fine foliage. A brief description is given on page 4, however, nothing can take the place of seeing them. They are very heavy bloomers.

EVERGREEN AZALEAS (priced on pages 7, 8 & 9)

In the past few years, we have had a tremendous call for large Azaleas (18/24", 24/30", 30/36") and we now have a nice group of these sizes. They are all sheared plants and heavy and can be used in the finest of landscapes. We are well supplied in Azaleas of all sizes. Both Azaleas and Rhododendrons supply such a riot of color in the spring that no nursery or sales lot can afford to be without them. We always use large amounts of them as traffic stoppers and the weeks when Rhododendrons and Azaleas are in bloom are our busiest weeks of the year.

Many nurserymen feel that these marvelous plants cannot be grown in their section but we can tell you the simple secret of success. Even if you live in the alkaline soil sections your customers can have these spectacular broad-leaf evergreens with little more care than the original soil preparation.

Note: Only the sizes which are listed under each variety are available in that variety.

Azaleas are also available in liners. Please see the back section of the book.

AMERICAN HOLLY (Ilex Opaca)

This is the popular Christmas Holly with the evergreen leaves and red berries. There are many varieties of American Holly but our selections are all hardy types grown right here and hardy to twenty below zero. We can offer Holly in quantity in the sizes listed below and they are tightly sheared specimens. We are proud of them. A word here about English Holly. We would like to be able to grow English Holly because of its very glossy leaf and, were a hardy one available, we would be the first to grow it and offer it to you. We are continually testing to find a hardy one and we do have a hardy male, but do not want to put it into production till we find a worthy female. Until that time and as long as payrolls keep rolling around every week we don't dare take the chance of growing a plant of questionable hardiness in large production. The risks both to us and to you are entirely too great. The market for American Holly is almost untapped and if you put some on display it's almost like putting some dollars right into the old sock because they sell and sell well. Priced below for either Male or Female.

12/15" B&B.....	$2.25	3-4 ft. B&B.....	$12.50
15/18" B&B.....	3.50	4-5 ft. B&B.....	18.75
18/24" B&B.....	4.50	5-6 ft. B&B.....	35.00
24/30" female only	5.75	6-7 ft. B&B.....	50.00
30/36" female only	6.75

ONE MALE CAN POLLINATE MANY FEMALE HOLLIES, so we suggest that you order in the ratio of 3 females to 2 males because you will often sell 2 berry bearing females to 1 pollinating male.

SMALL ORDERS FOR CONTAINER MATERIAL.

We have designed an economical shipping box to handle any combination of 8 container grown plants. Any multiples of 8 can be shipped by common carrier so don't hesitate to get a few of anything to finish the season or satisfy a customer. Try a box or two of small hollies shown on the opposite page. WE SUGGEST 5 FEMALE AND 3 MALE HOLLY to make a box of 8. Of necessity, corrugated boxes are supplied at cost.

ONE OF OUR HOLLY FIELDS
(NOTE QUALITY)

QUALITY BEGINS WITH THIS SIZE PLANT

BOXWOOD (Buxus Sempervirens Bosley)

This is truly an aristocratic plant, a slow growing compact evergreen ideally suited for low formal hedge around a rose garden or other places where this type of evergreen hedge is needed. We have four big plants of this hardy selection of our own that have withstood the most rigorous winters we've had for 20 years and never have been damaged. We would suggest that for the first couple of winters this fine plant be protected some from the winter winds (this could be done effectively with Wilt-Pruf: see pg. 20) 1 gal. plants $1.00 (See pg. 10 for quantity price) Illustrated top left picture on pg. 11.

RAINBOW LEUCOTHOE

A broad leafed evergreen that is outstanding. During the entire summer this fine plant is in a constant state of change. The foliage changes from pink to red, yellow, chartreuse and green usually having all four of these colors on the leaves at all times. We sell 250 to 300 in our retail sales lot each summer without even half trying. The early spring color is never spectacular because it's the new growth that develops the exotic colors which they carry through to Fall. Supply limited. 1 gal. plants $1.75 5 gal. plants $2.75
Liners available see page 18.

PIERIS TAIWANENSIS

Could Pieris Japonica be improved? It is a fine plant but Taiwanensis is a geographical selection which is far superior. It has all the good characteristics of Japonica & is every bit as hardy but blooms a whole lot more. Little plants bloom heavily but older plants really are covered. In fact, they are so thoroughly covered that even in the Fall the buds provide another interesting season for this already interesting broad-leaf evergreen. The supply is limited. 1 gal. plants $1.50 ea. (see pg. 10 for quantity price) Illustrated at top of pg. 15. Liners available see pg. 18.

ROYAL BLUE SPRUCE

Pictured on cover and opposite on pg. 15. As blue as the sky. This is undoubtedly the bluest spruce on the market. There seems to be no comparison between this and any other variety when the color is compared. The one pictured on the cover is better than the average but they are all nice plants. They are all grafted plants and approximately 11 years old. This is one plant that is never in oversupply. We reserve the right to limit quantities of this.

1 gal.	5 yr. old average about	10/12" tall	$3.50
5 gal.	9 yr. " "	15/18" "	7.50
5 gal.	11 yr. " "	18/24" "	9.50

Lining Out Stock

All of our liners are grown in 2 x 2 x 3 treated plant bands & shipped in our special shipping container (illustrated top page 17) that is designed to put your liners in your hands in the same fine condition in which they were left our place. Since each of these containers handles fifty bands & ships best when it is full, we ask that you keep your orders in multiples of fifty. We don't care how many of each you buy as long as the total is divisible by fifty.

PIERIS TAIWANENSIS
A VERY SUPERIOR TYPE

AMERICAN HOLLY LINERS

The demand for Holly is increasing every year and for the most part we have been able to keep up with the demand, however, some few customers are disappointed each year and each year we are made happy by the fact that we sell out.

We have been producing Holly in quantity for many years & doing selection work with it for lots longer than that and feel that we are qualified to answer your Holly questions if you have any.

We furnish you with both commercial and retail directions as to how to get maximum results from the merchandise you purchase from us. Your success with our material is in turn our success.

FEMALE VARIETIES AVAILABLE

CHRISTMAS CAROL...Narrow grower much needed for certain spots.

CUMBERLAND.....This is a newcomer to our list. We have been diligently building up our stock in order to offer it this year. Cumberland is presently considered to be the best holly to come out of Southern Jersey. It's all'round good.

HEDGEHOLLY.....Self branching & dense grower. Good saleable tree quick with a minimum of pruning. Best profit maker of all.

OLD HEAVY BERRY... (Hookstraw) A good name and a popular variety. Broad leaf & large bright red berry. Does not grow as fast or as dense as some. Not over 15% of this in your total order.

WESTCROFT.....A selection which has been outstanding at Grosse Ile, Michigan.

The following list of Azalea Liners are all the 2 x 2 x 3 treated plant bands & are stocky cut-backs ready to go ahead and produce dollars for your pocket. They will be shipped in our special liner shipping box which will assure your getting them in the finest shape.

Order early for shipment May 1st or later.

DUSTY ROSE, Good grower & good bloomer. Old rose pink.
FEDORA, Everyone knows this one. Pink, very dependable bloomer.

FIREBALL, Really red. This is a good grower & good bloomer. We sell twice as much of this as any other single variety.

HERBERT, Strong hose-in-hose purple. Very good grower with good tenacious year round glossy foliage. Grows low for under those picture windows or facing down & is a most profitable variety to grow and sell.

HINO-CRIMSON, Good red color. Very dwarf, grows slow and sells well for a premium price. Blooms about Mother's Day.

JAMES GABLE, Hose-in-hose red. New and popular.

KATHLEEN, More intense colored later blooming Fedora.

LOUISE GABLE, This is one of the last of these Azaleas to bloom & thereby extends the season considerably. It is a very lovely hose-in-hose pink. The plant is low and compact and ideal for foreground planting.

ROBERT LEE, One of Joseph Gable's brand new ones. Large (often to 4" across) ruffled pure white flowers. Hardy, extra fine foliage. This one variety $40.00 per hundred and $350.00 per thousand. (NOTE: the name on this one is only a temporary one as it is too new to have been given a permanent registered name.)

ROSE GREELY, Hose-in-hose white.

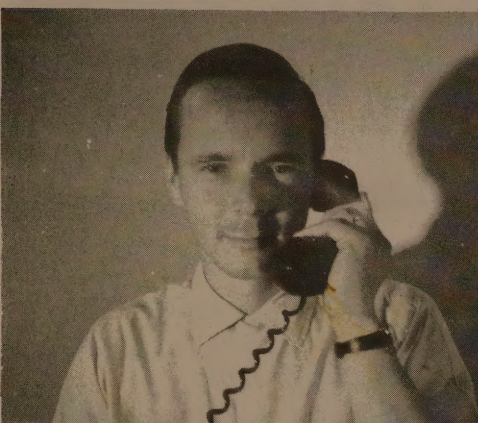

STEWARTSTONIAN, Gable's newest introduction. Intense orange red with new twist of color. Unfading in our sun.

AZALEA LINER PRICES: $30.00 per hundred. (Thousand rate starts at 250) $250.00 per thousand.

Varieties may be combined to make the thousand rate.

PERFECT FOR THE FLORIST

We have been working with a new process for making container rhododendrons set flower buds. We offer a limited number with 2 buds for $2.00 ea. and with 3 or more buds at $2.25. Not since the turn of the century have the florists had a fine plant like this which they could force and offer at a reasonable price.

PROTECT VALUABLE PLANTS WITH WILT-PRUF

We are distributors for Wilt-Pruf the miracle coating for transplanting and we keep a supply on hand at all times. The new Wilt-Pruf is a greatly improved product and we not only recommend it but use it ourselves freely. It is very good insurance and one of the suggested uses is to dip the tops of your rose plants in it before potting to prevent desiccation, plus its other well known uses in transplanting, winter protection, spray before trucking, etc.
